

Italian Train Accident Is Fatal to 61

By SERGIO MARSOTTO

VOGHERA, Italy (AP)—A fast freight train hurtled into a standing passenger express jammed with Riviera-bound holiday crowds early today and 61 persons were reported killed.

The station master said the freight had run a red stop light. The death toll was expected to mount.

Seventy persons were reported injured, 10 of them gravely, in the head-on collision at the main station of this industrial city 30 miles south of Milan.

The 15-car passenger train had stopped to take on more passengers for a long weekend at the seashore.

The freight engineer and his assistant apparently leaped to safety before the crash. They turned up unhurt at police headquarters. A warrant had been issued earlier for their arrest for questioning.

Samuel Vezzosi, the station master, said the freight ran through the light 800 yards outside the station. Officials said it continued past watchmen who were frantically waving flags and lanterns.

Today is Ascension Day, a holiday in Italy, and Saturday is the country's national holiday in celebration of the formation of the Italian Republic.

The two holidays gave many Italians an opportunity for a four-day vacation. And between 60 and 700 crowded aboard the early morning Milan-Genoa train.

As it stood in Voghera station the freight crashed into the last coach, ramming completely through it.

Identification of the victim's was slow. None of the first dead and injured identified was American.

Most of the injured and all of the dead were in the last two coaches of the 10-coach passenger train en route south from Milan to Genoa and Verigmiglia on the French frontier.

Police with blow torches cut into the twisted wreckage to reach the dead and dying. Doctors amputated the legs of a woman and a man pinned helplessly in the tangle of smashed steel.

Three hours after the wreck, an infant was found inside one wrecked coach alive and unhurt.

The freight, pulling 40 empty petroleum tanks and cement cars was bound for Genoa from Lecco on Lake Como and had left Milan a short time after the passenger train.

Police and railroad officials said it had not been established whether the freight engineer had run a signal which should have stopped him outside the Voghera station until the passenger train had departed.

The freight locomotive virtually sliced the rear coach in two. The impact also tore open the next coach.

A total of 87 persons died in four other Italian train wrecks in the past six months.

Bible School Planned at Tabernacle

The First Assembly of God is conducting its Vacation Bible School this year around the theme "Flying With Christ," portrayed by engines, jets and rockets, carried throughout each department of the school as valuable lessons in the Christian life, compared with piloting in our space age.

The school will open June 4 at 6:30 p.m. in the educational facilities of the church. There will be stories, music, handicraft and other activities of interest for each student. This two week course is open to all children, ages 2 to 15.

The pastor, Rev. W. C. Land, will be the chaplain and the minister of youth and music, S. D. Schubert, will be the principal and music teacher of the school.

Arkansas Bases to Be Modernized

WASHINGTON (AP)—Modernization of two Arkansas bases, at a cost of $1,193,000, is being sought by the Air Force, testimony before the House Appropriations Subcommittee on Military Construction revealed Wednesday.

The Air Force is seeking $778,000 for the Blytheville base and $415,000 for the Little Rock base for the fiscal year beginning July 1.

Principal construction of Blytheville would be an addition to the medical facility at a cost of $44,000. The Air Force also is seeking funds for new air traffic control facilities and heaters in maintenance docks.

Work at the Little Rock base would include improvement of the runway approach lighting system, installation of aircraft parking space, floodlights and alteration of a maintenance dock.

The projects have been approved by the House.

State Revenue Collections Up $9.3 Million

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—State revenue collections for 11 months of this fiscal year are $9.3 million more than the corresponding period last year, Revenue Commissioner Ted Donham said today.

Sales and income tax collections are up and more than $5 million of the increase has come in the last five months, Donham said.

May income tax collections showed an increase of $1,235,082, and that was the money promised last week by Education Commissioner Arch Ford as a teacher bonus.

Some candidates for governor criticized the way the bonus announcement was handled, calling it election year politics.

"They wanted to know where the $1 million came from," Donham said. "There it is—right there in the income tax collections."

The Revenue Department has collected $154,055,564 in the 11 months of this fiscal year compared to $144,670,673 for the same period last year.

Income tax collections were up to $20,059,463 from $18,990,313. Sales tax collections were up to $51,417,999 from $47,878,717. Gasoline tax collections were up to $38,945,431 from $36,765,410.

General revenues, of which public schools get almost half, total $95,423,973 for the 11 months, compared to $90,163,797 for the same period last year, an increase of $5.2 million.

Engineers to Fly Newsmen on Lake Tour

Newspaper editors and cameramen from southwest Arkansas have been invited by the Vicksburg Office, Corps of Engineers, to make an air tour of Narrows and Ouachita lakes on Friday, June 1.

The plane, a twin-engine Grauman Black Mallard amphibian, will arrive in the bay opposite Swaha Lodge at 11:30 a.m. Friday. Weather permitting, it will take the newsmen on an observation and picture-taking tour lasting 45 minutes.

The invitation was extended to Hope Star this morning by Dave Parsons of Hot Springs, assistant resident engineer for the Blakely (Lake Ouachita) and Narrows (Lake Greason) area of the Vicksburg office. Mr. Parsons was resident engineer for Narrows from its opening date until his promotion to the post at Hot Springs.

Dredge Permit Asked

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—The Army Engineers said Wednesday the Pine Bluff Sand and Gravel Co. has applied for a permit to dredge sand and gravel from the bed of the Arkansas River near Pine Bluff. The permit would run until Dec. 31, 1965 and allow dredging in the area from the Cotton Belt Railroad Bridge 15 miles downstream to the Jefferson County Free Bridge.

Shows in State Give Some Relief

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Thunder-showers, the early part of the week relieved drought conditions in parts of Arkansas, the Agricultural Extension Service said today, but many east Arkansas cotton, rice and soybean fields are still dry.

Walter Hickman, meteorologist with the U.S. Weather Bureau in Little Rock, says his records indicate a dry May usually is followed by a rather wet June.

The showers Monday night through Wednesday night probably mark the beginning of a gradual end to the dry spell which lasted through most of May.

The rains were general over west and south Arkansas, the Weather Bureau said, but sparse in the eastern part of the state.

"Cotton possibly can hold out in well aerated soil where the roots go deep," an Extension Service spokesman said. "But cotton in clay soil is drying out."

East central and northeast Arkansas areas are suffering most from the drought.

The rain in west Arkansas brought out pastures and halted possible sale of beef cattle.

As much as 2.22 inches of rain fell Wednesday at El Dorado. The forecast called for partly cloudy and mild. A few thundershowers were possible, the Weather Bureau said.

Rocky Mound, Emmet Win Awards

HOT SPRINGS, Ark. (AP)—Methodists of the Little Rock conference slapped at current enforcement of gambling and liquor laws, denounced "freedom rides" north as cruel and inhuman, then turned to a series of awards during a busy third-day session Wednesday.

Delegates heard Dr. William E. Brown of Little Rock, executive director of the Arkansas Christian Civic Foundation, charge that Gov. Orval E. Faubus had invited flaunting of gambling laws by disclaiming responsibility for their enforcement.

Brown told the delegates the Foundation was also concerned with the view of other gubernatorial candidates on gambling and liquor.

A questionnaire asking, "would you use your office to enforce gambling laws" is being sent to candidates, he said. The questionnaire, Brown said, will ask whether the candidates favor laws prohibiting pinball machines and opposing extension of so-called legal gambling.

Dr. Harold A. Bozeley, senior minister of the First Church of Christ, Methodist, in New York City, told the delegates, "We deplore any cruel or inhuman manipulation of our Lord's children, whether it takes place publicly, privately or in the life of the church."

Dr. Charles Cross of Stamps, secretary of the board, said, "The conference especially wishes to express its disapproval of the cruel, inhuman principles behind the recently instigated, so-called 'freedom rides.'"

At an evening meeting, Amity Methodist church was named "Small Town Church of the Year" and Traskwood church in Sabine County, "Open Country Church of the Year."

The awards were presented by Bishop W. Kenneth Pope at a dinner session of the Town and Country Commission of the conference.

District winners included: Little Rock — Traskwood; Pine Bluff — Humphrey; Hope — Rocky Mound (Open Country); and Emmet, (Small Town); Monticello — Newton's Chapel; Camden — Damas; and Arkadelphia — Morning Star church.

Friday the conference will ordain deacons and elders and announce appointments of ministers.

A Torrent of Buying Sends Stock Market Up in Solid Rally

World Goes On a Stock Buying Binge

By ED MORSE
AP Business News Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—A tidal wave of buy orders from all over the world boomed the stock market to a huge gain early this afternoon, but nimble traders began taking profits, trimming some of the blue chips below their best prices.

Once again, trading was heavy and the ticker tape lagged far behind orders.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was up to a very large gain of 6.70 to 226.80, with the industrials up 7.80, rails up 3.70 and utilities up 4.80. But this was a good deal below the rise of 8.90 made Tuesday, the greatest advance since Nov. 14, 1929.

Huge blocks of stock were traded in a hectic opening because orders piled up during Wednesday's holiday when brokerage firms kept open.

American Telephone opened on one of the biggest transactions of history — 100,000 shares—leaping 6½ points to 115, later shading gain to about 4 points as profits were cashed.

First-hour trading soared to 1.76 million shares, nearly equal to Tuesday's 1.78 million for the initial 60 minutes.

The size of the big blocks also reflected the re-entrance into the market of big investors such as mutual funds, pension funds and the like which showed a tendency to stand aside during the decline sessions.

The ticker ran 42 minutes behind transactions.

Among the standout gains was a mighty leap of 122 points by high-priced Superior Oil of California which hit a price of 1,060 a share.

IBM ran up 17 points.

General Motors, however, erased an early fractional gain and showed a slight loss. GM was affected by word that the court-ordered distribution of Du Pont's mammoth holdings of GM would start July 9 with the distribution of one-half share of GM for each share of Du Pont held.

This distribution will involve about 23 million shares of the 63 million GM shares held by Du Pont.

Du Pont stock, meanwhile, held a gain of more than 4 points.

Opening of Ford was delayed until midsession when it advanced 2½ to 85½ on 15,000 shares.

Gains of around 3 points were posted by Amerada, Liggett & Myers, Lorillard, Commonwealth Edison and North American Aviation.

A wide range of stocks rose 2 points or more — among them Bethlehem, Goodrich, U.S. Rubber.

$100 Stolen From Corn Belt Office

During the noon hour yesterday someone broke into a desk drawer at Corn Belt Hatchery, on the Rocky Mount Road, and stole about $100 in cash, City Officers Rowe and Shirley said today. The theft was from 12 noon to 12:30 p.m. The thief took the box containing the money.

Employment Show Rise During May

WASHINGTON (AP)—Employment rose by nearly 1,400,000 in May to 68,203,000—a record for any May—the government said today.

Unemployment fell by 227,000 to 3,719,000, a bit more than expected. The idle total is down about 1,000,000 from the same month last year.

The seasonally adjusted rate of unemployment within the work force declined from 5.5 to 5.4 percent—continuing a six-month downward trend. A year ago, the rate was 7 percent.

The job increase in May was about 500,000 more than was seasonally expected. The employment total was about 1,000,000 higher than the previous high for May, in 1960, and more than 1,500,000 above a year ago.

Secretary of Labor Arthur J. Goldberg, in comment on the figures, said in a statement that "the fact that employment is at record levels and that unemployment is continuing to go down is encouraging and shows a continued improvement in the economy."

Student Honored

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Sharon Yoder was named winner of Arkansas' first Valedictorian's International Project award Wednesday night at Central High School commencement exercises.

Principal Jess Matthews said the award, offered for the first time in the state this year, will give Miss Yoder a five-week tour of Europe with other winners and a chance to participate in an essay for $750 in college money.

City Park to Open Friday for Summer

Hope City Park will officially open for the season Friday, it was announced by Recreational Director Robert (Jackie) Tyus.

The Kiddie Korner Kindergarten, 801 South Walnut, will have a program and commencement exercises under the direction of Mrs. Charles Butler, teacher, on Thursday, May 31 at 7 p.m. in the Garland School auditorium.

A reception will follow at the school and the public is invited.

All Around Town

Coach John Pierce told the Kiwanis Club this week that 58 football candidates will be out for the 1962 season, the largest group he has had since coaching here.

He and Booster Club President Homer Beyerley showed a film about the professional Green Bay Packers and stressed the need for a seven man "football sled" for training. This is an $800 item and the Kiwanians tossed in $100 toward purchase.

So Mr. Pierce and Mr. Beyerley plan to seek a donation from other clubs in the city.

Another bovine blessed event, twin white-faced calves, reports Roscoe Bowden.

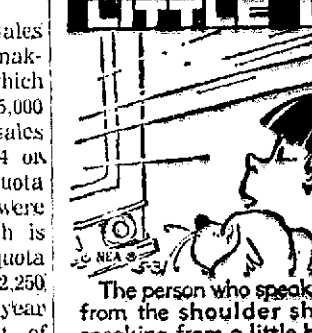

Sheila Foster, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Vincent Foster will receive a bachelor of arts degree Saturday at the U of A.

All girls interested in playing softball are asked to meet at K Park Monday, June 4 at 4:30 p.m. instead of 10 a.m. as previously announced.

Telephone, Union in Agreement

CLEVELAND (AP)—An agreement expected to set a pattern for 700,000 telephone company employees throughout the country was reached Tuesday between the Communications Workers of America (AFL-CIO) and the Ohio
Bell Telephone Co.

Under terms of a wage reopening of a three-year contract made in May 1949, the company offered increases averaging 9.4 cents hourly for 1,000 employees in Ohio. The raises, up to 12 cents hourly and averaging 3 1/2 per cent, require approval by the union's international executive

Rodger Ward to Receive Race Trophy

By DALE BURGESS

Associated Press Sports Writer
INDIANAPOLIS (AP)—Rodger
Ward, who dresses like a bank president and plays tournament bridge and golf in the low 80s, will politely relieve Speedway owner Tony Hulman of something over $100,000 tonight at the annual 500 mile auto race victory dinner.

Ward, 41, was just as smooth Wednesday when he drove his new A. J. Watson custom-built speedster to his second Memorial Day victory in four years. He set a record of 140.292 miles per hour against A. J. Foyt's year old mark of 139.13.

It was a remarkable 12th consecutive start in the world's richest auto race for the veteran Indianapolis sportsman-businessman. And he proved again that you can't best experience at the 52-year-old track.

Parnelli Jones of Torrance, Calif., who turned the first 150-mile-an-hour lap over the relatively flat track during the time trials, did his best to back up predictions that he would run away from the pack in his Agajanian special.

Jones, in only his second 500, led for more than half of the race but broke line trouble messed up his pit stops and he finished in board but not by the union's membership, according to Martin Hughes, Ohio director for the union.

The agreement is for the entire Bell system. The union said pay raises would be effective the first Sunday after approval by the international. Negotiations began April 16.

Top craftsmen rates—involving the majority of employees—were raised from $128 weekly to $133, operators' maximum from $7 to $81, and for service representatives from $87.50 to $91.

Six subsidiaries of the parent American Telephone and Telegraph Co., whose wage reopening clauses with the union have expired are: Illinois Bell, Northwestern Bell, Cincinnati & Suburban Bell, Wisconsin Bell, New Jersey
Bell and Potomac Bell. Seventeen other companies will negotiate wage reopeners this year.

"The wage settlement is non-inflationary," said Hughes.

seventh place.

Foyt, of Houston, Tex., last year's winner, led briefly on one of Jones' pit stops, then Ward took charge on the 126th lap. Foyt lost a wheel and was lucky to walk back to the pits.

Ward's teammate, Len Sutton of Portland, Ore., led nine laps after Ward made his last pit stop, then came back to finish second after his own final halt for tires and fuel.

Ward and Sutton drove on the Leader Card team, financed by Robert C. Wilkie of Milwaukee, who also owned Ward's 1950 winning car. Their one-two team finish was the first since Mauri Rose and Bill Holland dominated the late 1940s in the Blue Crown spe-

Popular Eddie Sachs, Coopers-burg, Pa., was a hard luck loser for a second straight year. Taking third money, he actually was on the track a shorter time than Ward or Sutton. Sachs finished 3.43 seconds back of Sutton and 2.29 seconds back of Ward, and his pit stops took 24.5 seconds longer than Ward's efficient stops.

Unofficially finishing back of Sachs were Don Davis, Phoenix, Ariz., fourth; Bobby Marshman, Pottstown, Pa., fifth; Jim McElreath, Arlington, Tex., sixth; Jones, seventh; Lloyd Ruby, Houston, Tex., eighth; 1950 winner Jim Rathmann, Melbourne, Fla., ninth, and Johnnie Boyd, Fresno, Calif., tenth.

For the fourth straight year,
the race was run without a fatality.
And for the second straight year,
Jack Turner of Seattle, Wash., was the only driver hurt. He suffered a fractured pelvis and other injuries in a four-car pileup early in the race but was reported in good condition.

Only two gubernatorial candidates were publicly active on Memorial Day, former governor
Sid McMath and Gov. Orval E.
Faubus, and both shied away from politics.

McMath told a group of Negro ministers and church leaders at North Little Rock Wednesday the world could solve its problems if it would put into practice the Sermon on the Mount.

He spoke at Bethel AME church, where the minister is meeting as part of Shorter College's three-day commencement activities.

Faubus made a brief talk during Memorial Day services at Fort Smith, but confined his remarks to his World War II experiences.
He was one of three speakers on the 30-minute program. Others were Brig. Gen. Benjamin J.
Butler, assistant commander of the 10th Division at Ft. Chaffee and J. E. (Pat) Garner, former state legislator and retired newsman.

McMath told the ministers he thought it inappropriate to discuss politics at a religious meeting.

Referring to the vacillation of the procurator before Jesus' cri-cifiction, McMath said, "Pontius Pilate did not have the courage to stand up to the mob — like some other people we know controlled by the mob," and drew applause.

Kenneth Coffelt spoke to the ministers Tuesday night at a meeting at Shorter College. He told the ministers he was by-passing segregation as an issue, because no good would come from further discussion of the topic.

President Drops New York Paper

WASHINGTON (AP) — The White House has canceled its order for the New York Herald Tribune which has been among the dozen daily newspapers delivered for scrutiny by President Kennedy and assistants.

Asked for comment on a published report that the President and Mrs. Kennedy have been annoyed by stories in the Herald Tribune, which follows a Republican editorial policy, the only thing White House sources would say is that it was decided to get more of a representation of newspapers across the country.

The St. Louis Post-Dispatch has been added to the list, starting Thursday.

There was no immediate comment from the Herald Tribune.

The first hint that something was up in relation to the Herald Tribune came Tuesday in an exchange between Pierre Salinger, White House press secretary, and newsmen.

Salinger was asked for comment on a story in Tuesday's issue telling of a "Dear Billie" letter, signed "Lyndon," written by Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson 1960 to Billie Sol Estes, the Texas financier now under congressional investigation in connection with alleged influence deals in federal farm programs.

"I haven't seen the Herald Tribune," Salinger snapped.

The letter said Johnson had placed some suggestion from Estes in the hands of those who would make the decision. A spokesman for Johnson said it was a reply to a recommendation from Estes that William P. Mat-tox, who has figured in the Estes inquiry, be given an Agriculture Department post in Texas. Mattox did not get the job.

The same issue of the newspaper carried a page 1 editorial saying Monday's tremendous price break on Wall Street "calls for more than a formal word from the White House. It calls for a convincing — and immediate — of Shorter, said Vernon Whitten of Mount Holy was also asked to address the group, but declined.

A sidelight to gubernatorial politics Wednesday was the criticism of the Little Rock Methodist Conference of Faubus for laxity in enforcing state gambling and liquor laws.

The conference, in a meeting at Hot Springs, was told that the Arkansas Christian Civic Foundation was sending questionnaires to gubernatorial and other candidates seeking their views on gambling and liquor.

Wants JFK to Stay out of Race

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Winston G. Chandler said
Wednesday he will ask President Kennedy to keep his cabinet officers out of the state senatorial race, while his incumbent opponent, Sen. J. William Fulbright, made soothing remarks about the current stock market slump.

Chandler called a news conference at Little Rock and issued copies of a letter he said he is mailing to Kennedy because of the appearances, one scheduled and one past of cabinet members in the state.

Fulbright, a guest at a Hot Springs Rotary Club meeting, said he sees "no cause for any wave of pessimism over the stock market slump," and spoke briefly on the economy of the state.

Chandler told newsmen that secretary of Commerce Luther Hodges "did a lot of bragging on the senator in his speeches."
Hodges made talks at Hope and Newport last week.

"Now they've got Johnson (Vice President Lyndon Johnson; com-demonstration that investment, i.e. business itself, has in Mr.

Kennedy the friend that he claims to be."

Later inquiry produced from other sources the information that the Herald Tribune had been cut off the buying list this week.

The White House now receives five New York newspapers every day. These are the Times, Daily News, Post, Wall Street Journal and Journal American.

Among the other papers on daily order are the Washington Post, Evening Star and Daily News, the Baltimore Sun, the Chicago Tribune and the American, the Philadelphia Inquirer, Los Angeles Times and Nashville Tennessean.

ing in here and I am afraid the flood has started," he said. Johnson is scheduled to speak at an Arkansas Bar Association meeting next month.

Chandler said in the letter, "The people of Arkansas can make up their own minds in this race without outside help...I feel that you people in Washington have your hands full with the stock market crisis...without taking the time to enter local politics."

Fulbright said of the stock market slump, "These temporary ups and downs are characteristic of our system of capitalistic government and are nothing to worry about."

While Chandler criticized the U.S. foreign policy and a newsletter issued by Fulbright, the senator dealt with Arkansas economy.

Chandler termed the newsletter
"The High Cost of Peace," a "propaganda campaign at the expense of taxpayers." The newsletter defended current foreign aid expenditures.

Fulbright said in his talk that every segment of the Arkansas government has prospered and that much of the federal government expenditure in this state has been "a real investment."

He Plays Footsie With Best Friend's Wife

By HELEN WORDEN ERSKINE
Dear Helen: Ten years ago I worked with a man who became my best friend. We hunted and fished together, visited back and forth and frequently made up a foursome with our wives for an evening on the town.

His wife was a cutie, dancin' well, enjoyed a good joke and had plenty of pep. I quit my job for a better one and we all drifted apart. Three years ago my friend's wife called up. Her husband was out of work. Could I find him a job? I got one for him at my place. His wife phoned to thank me. Gradually she took to calling every evening, talking first to my wife, then me. My wife's on the serious side and much older than me, but before we knew it both of us would be laughing and kidding with this girl. She was good medicine.

It got so I felt lonely when she didn't phone and would call her. Meanwhile, her husband and I remained friends but didn't see each other often because my boss had given him a job on the road. A year ago, when I was home on vacation, his wife phoned early; she'd got a job and wanted to tell me all about it. Would I think a lot. Dad says I'm getting lunch with her. My wife being too serious, I said yes, have to tell a girl you can't go steady because your father won't and talking that noon but she let you. Would it be okay to say I didn't tell my wife. We laughed much? Am I wrong in thinking often after that, even played footsie under the table. One Saturday morning I went out and called her at home. She seemed a little guarded in her conversation. Subsequently I learned her husband was back. She told him it was my wife who had phoned. Later my wife actually did call and the husband answered the phone. He wanted to fight me. I tried to apologize. He wouldn't listen. Shortly after he dropped dead of a heart attack.

At the funeral home his brother refused to let us in, shouting that I was a Judas for coveting his sister-in-law. I think she is as guilty as I. What can I do to straighten this thing out? I'm an amiable fellow and like to get along with everybody! —Misunderstood my father should let me go steady? — Confused.

Dear Confused: You're bound to neglect your studies if you go steady—unless you're superhuman. Don't make the mistake of being serious about any one girl until you've completed your education, have a job and can support a wife.

Dear Helen: If I could only read my Bible as religiously as I read your column! It is a daily reminder that my "it's" aches and pains, my "isms" and my "tacs" are minor "hypochs" which must be lived with and God is good to me after all. M. H., Huntington Park, Ill.

Dear M. H.: You've learned a great lesson; to take life in grace and be happy no matter what comes.

Says Best Whites Help Negroes More

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Dr. J. H. Jackson of Chicago, president of the National Baptist Convention (Negro), told the graduating class of Arkansas (Negro) Baptist College today that the "best white citizens" of Arkansas can do more to help them "than all the statesmen in Washington."

"Tell the honorable governor of the state of Arkansas that there is nothing to fear from the Negro citizens of this great state," he said.

"The Negro citizens who have reared their families here, bought and built their homes here, have far more confidence, love and interest in Arkansas than all the other groups in any other section of the nation," he said.

"Tell the Negro people of Little Rock and Arkansas in general that the best white citizens of this community can do more to help build a better city and community than all the statesmen who dwell in Washington."

Giants, L. A. Sweep Through Doubleheaders

By JIM HACKLEMAN Associated Press Sports Writer

Two traditional rivals streaked through the first of baseballs big holiday spectacles at full clip, still waging their duel at the top of the National League.

Both San Francisco and Los Angeles swept Memorial Day doubleheaders, leaving the Giants with the same game and a half lead they've held over the Dodgers for the past week.

The Giants extended their current winning string to seven at Philadelphia, 4-3 in 12 innings and 5-2 over the Phils. The Dodgers, before the biggest crowd in the majors this season, won 13-6 and 6-5 over the New York Mets.

Every other club in the league lost some ground. Third-place Cincinnati slipped six games back by splitting with Milwaukee, losing 4-3 and winning by the same score in 16 innings. Pittsburgh, now seven games off the pace, took a single game from St. Louis 3-1. Houston beat out Chicago 8-6 in 14 innings.

In the tight American League race, Cleveland maintained its half game lead by splitting a pair of 7-0 decisions with Baltimore; New York divided with Minnesota, winning the opener of the day-night doubleheader 10-1 and losing the second game 5-4 in 11 innings; Detroit and Chicago broke even, with the Tigers taking the first 7-3 and the White Sox the second 6-3; Washington also split with Kansas City, the Senators winning 8-0 and the A's 5-2; and Los Angeles whipped Boston two times, 10-5 and 4-0.

The Giants had as truggled with the Phils in their opener, blowing three leads before Jose Pagan's looping single brought in Felipe Alou with the winning run in the 12th. Stu Miller gained the pitching victory in relief with three shutout innings.

The Giants had a struggle with themselves in the second game. They pushed across two runs in the first and got a two-run homer from Tom Haller in the second, staking Mike McCormick to a comfortable lead.

The Dodgers, appearing in the Polo Grounds for the first time since their move West after the 1957 season, combined with the Mets to put on a stirring production before the packed house of 55,704 roaring fans.

In the first game the Dodgers mounted a 19-hit attack. Dodger base-running flash Marty Willis turned slugger with two homers, one left-handed and one right-handed. Southpaw Sandy Koufax gave up 13 Met hits, but added to his impressive strikeout total with 10.

The second game was a cliff-hanger decided by Willie Davis' homer in the ninth. Former Dodger hero Gil Hodges was chiefly responsible for keeping the Mets in it with his second and third homers of the day, giving him 369 for his career and tying him with Ralph Kiner for 10th place on the all-time list.

Hank Aaron of the Braves and Don Basingame of the Reds got the deciding hits in the marathon doubleheader at Milwaukee, which stretched out to nearly eight hours. Hank singled home younger brother Tommy in the ninth inning of the opener, which Ron Piche won with a six-hitter.

After being blanked by Jack Curtis, Hank Fischer and Tony Cloninger for nine innings, the Reds' nipped Don Nottebart for the second game's winning run in the sixteenth. Johnny Klippstein, Cincinnati's fourth pitcher, got the victory.

Pittsburgh was 5-0 over the Cards for the season, jumping ahead on Dick Stuart's two-run homer in the first inning and coasting in behind the seven-hit pitching of Earl Francis and Diomedes Olivo.

Dave Giusti blanked the Cubs on three hits through nine innings of relief and Carl Warwick sent home Houston's deciding run in the 14th with his fourth hit of the afternoon.

RUSSELLVILLE, Ark. (AP)—Gary Wallace of Rogers was named president of the Arkansas chapter of Future Farmers of America Tuesday. Also elected to office at the close of the 35th state convention of the organization were Wendell Pyles of Booneville, vice president; Russell Black of Prairie Grove, secretary; Larry Miller of Melbourne, treasurer; Douglas Lowe of Russellville, reporter and Steve Hull of Emerson, sentinel.

Another Indian Hero Appears; Yanks in 2nd

By MIKE RATHET Associated Press Sports Writer

Cleveland's ever-growing list of heroes had two new additions today, their own rubber-armored Pedro Ramos and the Twins' Vic Power.

Ramos stopped Baltimore on three hits Wednesday in the first game of a doubleheader and drove in five runs in the 7-0 triumph with a pair of homers—one a grand slam. The Orioles won the nightcap by the same score.

Power stroked an 11th inning homer for a 5-4 Twins' triumph after the second-place New York Yankees had taken the opener of this twinbill 10-1. That restored Cleveland's half-game edge at the top of the AL logjam.

Minnesota remained a game back in third place with fourth-place Detroit and fifth-place Los Angeles, percentage points apart, both two back. The Tigers split with Chicago's White Sox, winning 7-4 before losing 6-3. The Angels moved closer by beating Boston twice, 10-5 and 4-0.

Washington and Kansas City also divided a twinbill with the Senators taking the opener 8-0 and the A's grabbing the second 5-2.

In the National League, first-place San Francisco extended its winning streak to seven games by beating Philadelphia 4-3 in 12 innings and 5-2, and the second-place Los Angeles Dodgers made it 10 in a row by whipping the New York Mets 13-6 and 6-5.

Cincinnati and Milwaukee split, the Braves winning 4-3 before the Reds took the nightcap by the same score in 10 innings. Pittsburgh edged St. Louis 3-1 and Houston defeated Chicago's Cubs 8-6 in 14 innings.

Ramos (2-1) was in complete charge against the Orioles, blanking them without a hit after the third inning and getting added home run support from Al Luplow, who connected with a man on against Chuck Estrada (3-6). The Orioles won the nightcap on homers by Jackie Brandt and Dave Nicholson off Barry Latman Hal Brown (2-3) and Hoyt Wilhelm.

Johnny Blanchard paced the (2-4) and the five-hit pitching of Yankees' 16-hit offensive in the first game with a homer, double and single for three runs batted in, while Bill Stafford (4-3) checked the Twins on seven hits, Victim of the heavy blasting was Joe Bonkowski (3-4). Power's one out blast in the 11th got the Twins the even break with Dick Stigman (3-1) getting the victory and Jim Cones (4-2) taking the defeat.

Home runs by Jake Wood, Rocky Colavito and Norm Cash gave Tiger Phil Regan (4-2) all the support he needed. His eight-hitter beat John Buzhardt (5-4). Joel Horlen (5-2) cooled 'em off with a six-hitter in the second game. The White Sox put it away against Sam Jones (0-1).

Leon Wagner provided the Angels with the edge in the first game against the Red Sox, knocking in four runs with his 13th homer and a double. That made Dean Chance (3-5) the winner and Bill Monbouquette (3-6) the loser. In the second contest, Ryno Duran and Art Fowler (1-2) combined to three-hit Boston while the Angels used a four-run first to beat Gene Conley (5-5).

Claudio Osteen (1-5) allowed the A's only six hits in the curtain-raiser while batterymate Ken Reizer gave the Senators all the runs they needed with a three-run homer that handed Ed Rakow (4-4) the loss. Shut out for six innings of the nightcap, the A's moved in front to stay with three in the seventh. Norm Bass (2-5) got credit for the victory with Marty Kutyna (1-4) taking the loss.

WINNING FIRST PLACE IN the Single Division of the tournament was Judy Koslosky with a score of 641.

SECOND AND THIRD PLACE Single position went to Bobbie Gautsche with a 639 score and third place went to Marguerite Avery with 619.

WINNING THE COVETED All Events Scratch Title was Carolyn Hatfield with 1402 pins without a handicap. Mrs. Margie Harrie was second with 1380 actual pins for nine games.

Hopes to Sell Bonds of New Revenue Bldg

By JOHN R. STARR
LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Revenue Commissioner Ted Donham hopes to sell the Revenue Building Commission together within the next 100 weeks to hire an architect and select a site for his department's new home.

The 1962 Legislature authorized a $10 million bond issue to finance the Revenue Department Building on the capitol grounds. Today, 15 months after the original bond bill was signed and 10 months after it was reauthorized, an August special session, not a bond has been sold or a spadeful of earth turned.

But Donham is ready to move quickly once the commission decides on a site and picks the architect. "I have been surveying my department to determine their needs," he said. "I estimate we can start construction in August and move into the building about 10 months after that."

Selling the bond should be no problem with Arkansas' excellent credit rating. Donham estimates architectural plans can be prepared in about two weeks.

When the commission meets is up to Donham at its chairman. The members are Secretary of State Nancy Hall and Cal Lend better, Wythe Walker and Ennis M. Oakes, all of Little Rock.

Mrs. Hall, as custodian of the capitol grounds, has been one roadblock to selection of a site. Donham's predecessor as commissioner, Orville Cheney, and Mrs. Hall were unable to agree on a location.

Cheney reportedly wanted the building placed northeast of the Game and Fish Building, near the main capitol building. Mrs. Hall reportedly wanted to put it on the southwest corner of the grounds, behind the Highway Department Building.

Donham said he expects the commission to work out the matter of a site with Mrs. Hall. The building will be furnished with the latest electronic data processing equipment to facilitate the job of preparing tax bills and tabulating tax payments.

It also will be equipped to handle a withholding system for the state income tax. The Legislative Council now is considering a proposal to put the state tax under withholding, like the federal tax.

The added paperwork burden of withholding would be impossible in the Revenue Department's present quarters, Donham said. A withholding tax bill, being prepared for council consideration, has an effective date of Jan. 1, 1964, Donham said, allowing time for completion of the new building.

Donham estimated the withholding system would produce an additional $2 to $3 million in income taxes annually without a tax increase.

He also estimated greater efficiency in other divisions resulting from new equipment in the new building would bring in another $1 million annually from other tax sources, also with an increase.

Soup For Lunch And Dinner, Too

Start your meal off right with this delicious Cream of Avocado Soup, developed in Carnation Company's Test Kitchens. Your family will approve and enjoy it as luncheon fare. And since it is made with evaporated milk, the extra creamy concentrated form of milk, you can be sure it is doubly nourishing, for evaporated milk contains twice the vitamin D, proteins and minerals of whole milk. It's a flavorful soup, with a velvety smooth texture, thanks to evaporated milk's better-blending qualities.

Cream of Avocado Soup (Makes 6-8 servings)

- | | |
|---|--|
| 1 quart chicken stock or bouillon | 1/2 cup all-purpose flour |
| 2 tablespoons grated onion | 2 large avocados, pitted, peeled and diced |
| 3-1/3 cups (2 large cans) undiluted evaporated milk | 1/8 teaspoon pepper |
| | Parsley |

Combine stock or bouillon and onion. Cook over low heat 5 minutes. Slowly add 1 cup evaporated milk to flour to blend. Add flour mixture, remaining 2-1/3 cups evaporated milk, avocados and pepper and cook over low heat until slightly thickened, stirring constantly. Garnish with parsley, as desired.

One For My Dame

By JACK WEBB

CHAPTER 27
I glanced at my watch. "Be at the bridge at 11," I said. "And a couple of more things, Profak. When I meet Carla at the center of the bridge it had better be her. Another thing, I'll cross the bridge with my hand hanging over the ravine. Anything funny and I'll let go of what I'm holding."

"I will talk this over with my friends," Profak said. "You haven't got any friends. The bridge, at 11." I slammed the phone into the cradle and pushed my way out of the booth. Hannibal grinned.

"He'll be there. So will Carla. Come on, boy." He took my elbow and guided me to the car. "The important thing is the timing, Rick. After you've passed Carla, take off your hat. The hair and the mustache will throw them. They're not going to know who you are."

"Carla won't know either." "Talk to her, boy. She'll know your voice." I said, "When you get Carla you just keep running until you get to Lieutenant Geiser."

"We'll all run," Hannibal said. "You're in a blue funk. You've got to pull out of it, Jackson." "Carla," I said, "that's the important thing to remember."

"You're thinking of Rick Jackson, not Carla DiMucci. You're back in your hole in the wall, under your flat rock, in your personal snake pit."

We didn't mention my condition again. I knew that Hannibal was half-right in what he said, but only that much. The thing was that I knew we couldn't pull the trick off, because I had lied to Profak, because I was cheating. I wanted something for nothing. Carla! That end should crown the work, that I had given no more lies than I had been told. Made no difference. You either played it straight or you didn't, and that was the way the world divided.

We angled off the freeway and crossed West Sansone, the street I had instructed Anthony Profak to take. At Encanto Drive we cut back so we could approach the bridge from the other side. I showed Hannibal the cul-de-sac where I parked my car off the narrow road, when I was after aquarium water. His compact black coupe backed into it neatly, a shadow among deeper shadows. It was less than 20 paces to the bridge. The bridge path angled right along the ravine. We were to the left.

The bridge was perhaps four feet wide and 30 feet long, where it crossed the ravine. An old-fashioned street lamp stood at either end. I said to Hannibal, "Don't you think we should douse the light on this side?" "Not yet," Hannibal told me. He walked out on the bridge, his hands thrust into his pockets. He stared down the dark curve that marked the course of the bridge path between the trees. He leaned over the bridge rail to the right and studied the filigree of light and shadow which marked the sides of the ravine, and then wandered over to the left to do the same. Finally he ambled down the center of the bridge, apparently fascinated by the heavy cross planks that formed its floor. He returned, whistling softly. "Look," I began, "they'll be here any minute. Maybe, even now..."

His eyes sparkled. He was happy as a kid with a quarter and 2 flavors to choose from. "Fools rush..." Haste makes waste... Make haste slowly and all that sort of thing." He grinned. "Come on back to my dashing steed and help me carry a thing or two. There's still time for a few surprises. Ours."

I trailed him, a clever jay of a man capable of wearing whatever feathers suited his mood. Clever enough, I hoped to get Carla away from them.

He opened the front hood of the car, snapped on the veiled flashlight he had used to discover me on the sofa of the motel home, and had me hold it while he rummaged through the orderly array of luggage, boxes and what not. He came up with a surf reel, spun full of heavy fishline, and a canvas bag, which seemed to hold a coil of insulated wire. Last he opened a small box full of odds and ends, and selected a small device which looked like some sort of a miniature spring trap.

On the way back to the bridge he said cheerfully, "After I was bitten by the cobra today and died in dear Reggie's arms, native renegades blew up the dak bungalow. Anyhow, there was quite a bit of Primacord lying about, so I helped myself to some. Thinking like a Profak, you understand."

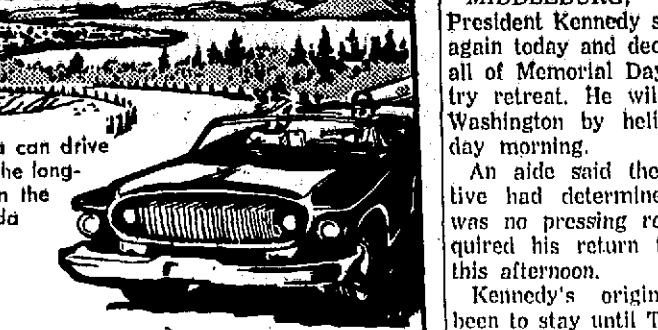

I shook my head. Primacord is an instant fuse that goes off like a keg of dynamite. We had used it at Fort Benning for booby traps. By itself, with no charge at the end of it, it makes a very big racket without doing much damage.

Chapter 28
Back at the bridge we worked quickly. Then Hannibal had me stand under the light on our side and gave me a cigarette. "I haven't smoked since 'Korea,'" I said.

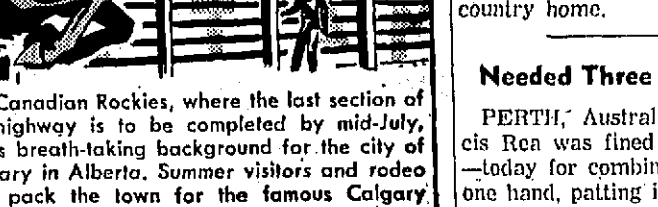

"You're going to now," Hannibal said. He gave me a packet of matches. I lit my cigarette. Hannibal himself faded into the shadows of the trees along the ravine. I smoked and stared along the bridge at nothing. Moths fluttered into the shadows of the trees along the ravine. A bat dipped down into the halo of light around the far lamp and swept out as quickly. Under my feet I could hear the trickle of water into the pool at the bottom of the ravine and running out of it over the rocks beyond.

There was a sudden scuffle of feet and a sudden bone-cracking

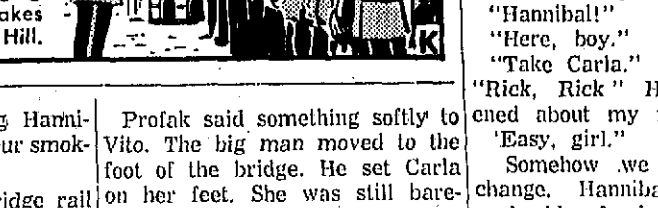

Candid Canada

In 1962 visitors to Canada can drive from Atlantic to Pacific on the longest and newest highway in the world — the Trans-Canada Highway! Ten years and $689 million have been spent on this 4,942 mile scenic route.

The Canadian Rockies, where the last section of the highway is to be completed by mid-July, forms breath-taking background for the city of Calgary in Alberta. Summer visitors and rodeo fans pack the town for the famous Calgary Stampede.

In Ontario, the Trans-Canada Highway leads around the north shore of Lake Superior to Ottawa—the nation's capital. The colorful Changing of the Guard ceremony takes place here on Parliament Hill.

smack. Even as I swung Hannibal hissed, "Tend to your smoking." I leaned against the bridge rail for support and wondered how much longer I could manage a cigarette less than three quarters of an inch long.

Then I heard them coming. They were making no effort at concealment and there were quite a number. I stood away from the side of the bridge, took a final pull on my cigarette, nearly choked, and then flipped the butt over the edge, a cascading firefly.

When they broke from the shadows the first thing I saw was the big gorilla, Vito, and the girl in his arms. It was Carla. It had to be Carla. The two Profaks were with them, so were a couple of other boys, the thin, cadaverous one who had given me my injection, and somebody new to the party, somebody carrying a pair of crutches.

They stopped half-a-dozen feet from the approach to the bridge. The Profak twins had their hands in their pockets. One of the brothers stepped forward. "Jackson?" "That's me."

"You bring your part of the bargain?" The envelope I pulled from my jacket pocket was legal size. I held it up in the light. Whatever Carla had brought to my apartment could not have been large. She had had only her purse when I met her and I had had a look at that.

"You alone?" "No," I said, "I've brought the U. S. Marines." "Very funny, Jackson. You start across the bridge, now." "You start Miss DiMucci."

Profak said something softly to Vito. The big man moved to the foot of the bridge. He set Carla on her feet. She was still barefooted. She wobbled and had to hold to his arm. The man with the crutches shoved them under her arms.

"Carla," I called. "Carla!" I started across the bridge. "Rick, Rick don't!" She began to come toward me. She didn't know how to use her crutches and she needed them desperately. Somehow she got onto the bridge. One at a time she placed each crutch, drew each foot along.

I made myself go slow. Still I was past the center of the bridge when we met. Then, not meaning to, I saw beyond her, beyond her ravaged, weeping face, and saw that they all had guns and that we were going to die. The final trick was theirs, and my big phony show had been for nothing. I grabbed her, swinging so that she would be behind me when they fired.

And then the lights at both ends of the bridge went out and the whole place blew up. Something sharp and burning struck me in the neck and Carla screamed. I swung her light body up into my arms and started to run.

A muzzle blast blossomed bright from beside the bridge in the direction we were going, and that meant Hannibal was returning their fire with the Walther. In that final instant I had forgotten him and his surprises. Shots exploded behind us and a wasp went keening past my ear, but the boys were in the dark and shooting wild.

After the longest eight or nine yards I'd ever run I heard Hannibal call, "This way, boy!" And at the same time I heard them rush the bridge behind us. "Hannibal!" "Here, boy."

"Take Carla." "Rick, Rick!" Her arms tightened about my neck. "Easy, girl."

Hits Faubus for Allowing Gambling

NOT SPRINGS, Ark. (AP)—Dr. William E. Brown of Little Rock, executive director of the Arkansas Christian Civic Foundation, lashed at Gov. Orval E. Faubus today for not enforcing the state's gambling laws.

In the foundation's annual report to the Little Rock Conference of the Methodist Church, Brown said "It is well known through press statements that the governor has disclaimed any responsibility for enforcement of gambling laws, which is in itself an invitation to flaunt these laws."

Brown announced that the foundation would send a questionnaire to all candidates for state office asking for their views on gambling and liquor.

The form will ask whether the candidates would support laws prohibiting pinball machines, opposing the extension of so-called legal gambling, and to gubernatorial candidates only, "Would you use your office to enforce gambling laws?"

The questionnaire asks if candidates would support laws to prohibit sale of alcoholic beverages in grocery stores and drug stores, prohibit drinking alcoholic beverages in any vehicle, determine alcohol content in blood of drivers arrested for drunk driving, and setting transportation of liquor in dry counties at one-fifth of a gallon of liquor or one case of beer.

A town and country fellowship supper was scheduled tonight. Ordination of deacons and elders is set for Friday, when appointments will be announced. Methodists were told of increasing membership Tuesday.

Kennedy Changes His Plans Again

MIDDLEBURG, Va. (AP)—President Kennedy switched plans again today and decided to spend all of Memorial Day at his country retreat. He will fly back to Washington by helicopter Thursday morning.

An aide said the chief executive had determined that there was no pressing reason that required his return to the capital this afternoon.

Kennedy's original plan has been to stay until Thursday. Then it was announced he would return to Washington later today. No specific reason was given, and Kennedy had no appointments. Now he has reverted to his original plan for a Thursday return after observing his 45th birthday and the holiday at leisure at his country home.

Needed Three Hands

Francis said he was on his way to see his girl.

libal call, "This way, boy!" And at the same time I heard them rush the bridge behind us. "Hannibal!" "Here, boy."

"Take Carla." "Rick, Rick!" Her arms tightened about my neck. "Easy, girl."

Somehow we made the exchange, Hannibal's arms took each side of mine. "Let go, Carla!" Pulling away from her I felt a lock of hair brush my cheek.

Then I yanked the gun from the waistband of my trousers and turned toward the bridge. Pointblank range at shadows, I squeezed the trigger and squeezed again. The fistful of gun bucked in my hand. Behind the explosions I heard a cry. The plunging footsteps stopped. Somebody returned my fire from 10 or 15 feet. I squeezed the trigger again and went down on one knee.

Boykin Drops Race in Alabama

THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Sen. Frank Boykin, dean of Alabama's delegation in the U. S. Senate, has lost his bid for a 15th term in Congress. In Kentucky, Thorton Morton has easily won the Republican nomination for second term.

Boykin's defeat came in Alabama's Democratic primary Tuesday in which he was one of the incumbent congressmen scrambling for eight available House seats.

Alabama Democrats also chose their segregationist George C. Wallace, a former state judge, as their gubernatorial nominee, tantamount to election in the Deep South state.

Morton crushed his only primary election opponent and promptly announced that former President Dwight D. Eisenhower had agreed to campaign for him in Kentucky this fall.

Morton's opponent will be Lt. Gov. Wilson Wyatt, who was federal housing administrator under former President Harry S. Truman. Wyatt, who squashed two foes in Tuesday's Democratic primary, said he hoped President Kennedy would campaign for him this fall.

Both men have fought political battles at the national level. Morton was Republican national chairman in the 1960 presidential campaign and Wyatt managed Adlai E. Stevenson's bid for the presidency in 1952.

Seven Kentucky House members, including one Republican, also won re-election by wide margins. The state's delegation was reduced by one in the 1960 census, but Rep. Brent Spence chose not to seek re-election.

Wallace, who urged defiance of federal courts if necessary to preserve racial segregation in Alabama, defeated State Sen. Ryan deGraffenried in the gubernatorial race.

In Florida, State Sen. Sam Gibbons of Tampa, John A. Sutton of Orlando and Don Fuqua of Altha won Democratic nominations for three of the state's four new House seats brought about by population gains.

Edward J. Gurney of Winter Park won Republican nomination in one of the new districts, and in another new district Robert Arthur Peterson was the apparent victor over Paul J. O'Neill for the GOP nomination.

Texarkana Okays Bonds

TEXARKANA, Ark. (AP)—Texarkana voters approved Tuesday a $1.5 million general obligation bond issue for street improvements by a vote of 1,635 for to 713 against. Money from the bonds will be used to develop a system of arterial streets and resurface others. The issue calls for a five-mill tax levy.

Two Leave Hyannis for Better Jobs

Of 42 Negro "reverse freedom riders" who have been sent to the resort town of Hyannis, Mass., by a Southern segregationists this month, two already have left and eight others say they are disillusioned and hope to leave.

A 28-year-old construction worker from Shreveport, La., Mack Johnson said he wants to take his wife and five children to Boston where he thinks he can find permanent employment. Johnson has been working on a temporary job at Hyannis, helping refit an excursion steamer for summer runs.

William Ricks, 20, a jobless dishwasher, said he wants to return to Little Rock. He said that the Capital Citizens Council there "lied to us about jobs being easily obtainable in Hyannis."

Thirty Negroes have been sent to Hyannis from Little Rock, 10 from Shreveport and two from Macon, Ga.

On other fronts: Negroes scored two "firsts" in the field of employment. At Rochester, N.Y., Mrs. James T. Young became the first Negro to be named a principal in the city's public school system. And John (Buck) O'Neil was signed as a Chicago Cub baseball coach.

In separate cases, the U. S. Court of Appeals at Cincinnati and the 5th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals at New Orleans took school desegregation cases under advisement.

The Cincinnati case involved 17 Negro pupils seeking to bring about immediate desegregation of the white Fulton and Negro Austin high schools in Knoxville, Tenn.

In the New Orleans case, counsel for 12 Negro students are asking the court to throw out the use of Florida's pupil assignment law by the Escambia (Pensacola) County School Board. The plan was approved last September by

Youth, 4, Trapped in Mine Cave-in GHOST PINE CREEK, Alta. (AP)—Almost no hope was held today for a 4-year-old boy swallowed by the cave-in of an abandoned coal mine as he played 100 yards from his home.

Faint cries of "Daddy, daddy" soon after Kenny Kowalechuk disappeared Tuesday spurred a mine official to make a hazardous descend on the end of a cable 45 feet down the rickety shaft late Tuesday night.

District Mines Inspector J. J. Kubin of Calgary said he found no sign of the chubby, dark-haired boy. Loose earth plugged the 85-foot-deep shaft.

"I have no hope the boy will be found alive," said Kubin. Kenny, second youngest of the 11 children of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Kowalechuk, plunged through a thin crust of earth topping the old shaft while playing with his older brother, Johnny, 3, shortly before noon.

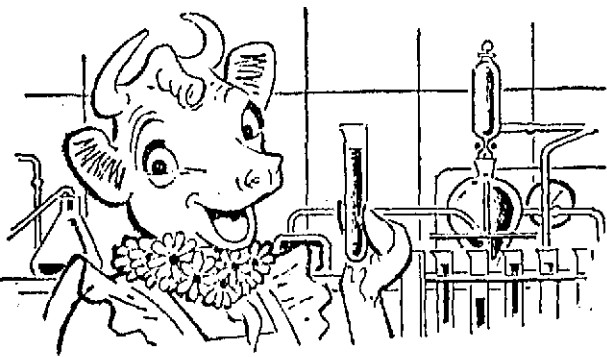

The mine, abandoned 30 years ago, is two miles from this central Alberta hamlet and about 6 miles northeast of Calgary.

Summoned by Johnny, Mrs. Kowalechuk found a hole in the grass-covered mound marking the mine's site. She was reported to have talked with the trapped boy while her husband drove to phone 2½ miles away to call for help.

Mounted police Cpl. Keith Sutcliffe, one of the first rescue workers on the scene, reported he heard the child whimpering about 1:30 p.m. There was no further sign of life.

Long Hairs, Swing Cats Mingled

By JAMES BACON
AP Movie-Television Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—The long hairs mingled with the swinging cats Tuesday night as the National Academy of Recording Arts and Sciences passed out annual Grammy Awards to such diverse musicians as Igor Stravinsky and Chubby Checker.

Stravinsky, whose 80th birthday falls this year, won a Grammy for the best classical album of the year — "Stravinsky Conducts le Sacre du Printemps; Petrushka."

Checker, of course, won for best twist album, "Let's Twist Again." The one-time roly-poly singer lost 35 pounds in introducing the twist to a dancing-mad public.

Composer Henry Mancini walked off with the most Grammys — five.

All were for his score for the movie "Breakfast at Tiffany's," in which the hit song "Moon River" was featured.

Mancini also won two Oscars at the movie Academy Awards last month.

Judy Garland, whose album "Judy at Carnegie Hall" won four Grammys, was runner-up.

Other winners included best movie sound track album—"West Side Story."

Best original Broadway show album—"How to Succeed in Business Without Really Trying."

Best comedy album—"An evening with Mike Nichols and Elaine May."

Best country and Western record—"Big Bad John," by Jimmy Dean.

Best Rhythm and blues recording—"Hit the Road Jack," by Ray Charles.

For centuries primitive medicine men used extracts from roots, leaves, plants. Many of our valuable modern drugs come from these plants: cough medicines, curers, opium, cocaine, tranquilizers, digitalis — among others.

Juice from pineapple plant was used to treat almost everything. It had some value, though natives didn't know why. Modern scientists discovered plant contains enzymes, essential for regulating life processes.

Scientists at William H. Rorer, Inc., tested enzyme bromelain, developed it into a tablet (called Ananase), which is used by doctors to treat black eyes, sprains, bruises, fractures, boils — and numerous other inflammatory conditions. Truly a modern medicine from an ancient plant.

Facts About Life Around Arkansas

By J. C. TILLMAN
Associated Press Staff Writer

When President Kennedy's urgings for better health failed to impress elementary students at a Little Rock school, a teacher tried lectures, visual aids and other means to get the class to exercise more.

These and even the suggestion that the school coach was not happy failed to produce results, so the inevitable threat of taking the matter to the principal was used. This, too produced no results.

The principal informed the class she would personally write the President about the matter, and the next day there appeared a "letter" to the class, signed by "the President," spurring them on to greater efforts. Enclosed was a dollar bill to help buy athletic equipment.

This did the job. The only hitch came when a bright youth wanted to know how the letter got there so fast. The principal staved this inquiry off with an abrupt "Air mail" and quick departure.

Mrs. Mary Jackson of Texarkana reports finding herself in the odd position of not showing her best manners to a purse snatcher.

She had parked downtown, left the children and her purse in her car while she went briefly into a store. While she was gone a man reached in the car, took the billfold from her purse and fled.

That night, she got a phone call saying the billfold would be mailed back to her the next morning. It was, with only $2 missing. The next night, she got another phone call asking if she received the billfold.

Mrs. Jackson said she was so flustered at the series of events, she forgot to thank the man.

"Whoever he was," she commented, "I'd like to tell him 'Thank you.'"

Some Pine Bluff folk are wondering if an elm tree can become a "weeping willow" when it loses its "mate."

Not long ago a large elm near the courthouse was cut down and since that time the one next to it has been weeping "tears" in such quantities that the sidewalk has been kept wet.

Gossip has it that the remaining elm is just plain bereaved and showing it.

Rutledge Ford, associate county agent, says no such thing is going on—the tree is infested with aphids and elm leaf beetles that cut into the veins of the leaves and cause the sap to fall.

Ford says he really didn't mind scotching the legend — in the making.

Spectacular Nuclear Shots Expected

By FRANK CAREY

WASHINGTON (AP) — The most spectacular shots of the U.S. nuclear tests in the Pacific will begin in about three days. These are the high-altitude bursts whose brilliant glow will be seen for hundreds of miles.

The three or four blasts with their high-soaring nuclear fireballs and glittering aurorae may temporarily disrupt some radio communications and radar observations.

Militarily, the shots obviously are designed to test the effects of high-altitude blasts on the nation's wartime communications gear — and on electronic monitors designed to detect oncoming missiles.

The government announced Monday the series will be fired over Johnston Island.

The first shot, with an explosive force of something less than a million tons of TNT—a megaton—will be exploded at a height of "tens of kilometers." Educated guesses put this at about 30 to 40 miles.

Two following blasts—one in the megaton range, the other less than a megaton—will be triggered higher—up to 500 miles, according to some sources. The Atomic Energy Commission would go no further than "hundreds of kilometers." One hundred kilometers is 60 miles.

Whether a fourth shot will be necessary depends on the results of the initial three explosions.

So far the United States has announced firing 14 nuclear explosions in the current series of atmospheric tests which began April 25. All have been in the vicinity of Christmas Island, the other test site in the Pacific range.

The glow from the first test—but not the fireball—probably will be visible in Hawaii, about 700 miles from Johnston Island.

The island state very likely will be able to see the unearthly fireballs of the second and third explosions.

One of the higher shots may disrupt one of the Van Allen radiation belts which is at an altitude of 500 miles.

The joint announcement of the tests by the AEC and Defense Department indicated that the concern voiced by some scientists—that a high-altitude blast would wipe out one of the Van Allen belts—was groundless.

These scientists were reported worried that the rupture might be so severe that it would take 100 years to replenish the particles constituting the belt.

The AEC announcement said a panel of scientists called together at President Kennedy's request to review possible effects of high-altitude tests on the radiation belts concluded that any disruption of the inner belt is expected to disappear within a few months.

Atkinson Close to Okla. Win

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — Former Gov. Raymond Gary initiated the recount of ballots cast in Oklahoma's democratic primary runoff for governor but Midwest City builder W. P. Bill Atkinson moved close to victory today making most of the recount.

Gary still needs a dramatic reversal in the recount trend to pull ahead of Atkinson and make good in a step toward a second term.

With the recount completed in 69 of the state's 77 counties, Atkinson held a 741 vote lead over Gary for the democratic nomination.

The new totals were Atkinson 231,961, Gary 231,220.

All Rest of Texas Is Wrong

CISCO, Tex. (AP)—This town of 5,000 in the center of Texas is breaking with the rest of the state and will go on daylight saving time Friday.

Purpose, says Chamber of Commerce manager Larry Miller, "is to give our fishermen more time to fish, our golfers more time to golf, our swimmers, bridge players, skiers and other lovers of leisure more time for their favorite recreation."

It is estimated that three of every five American families are buying their own home.

Quick and Elegant Sandwich

This colleagues may not have approved of his eating habits, but John Montag, Earl of Sandwich, quite evidently knew what he was doing when he ordered his meals between two slices of bread!

Through the years this culinary triumph has evolved from pieces of pork or veal served between two slices of black bread to everything from turkey to sandwiches to become a household word.

Long an artistic and culinary accomplishment of the Scandinavians, the open-face sandwich has gained respect and admiration of people in almost every part of the world and has become a desirable main dish at suppers and luncheons.

Such is this delicious open-face chicken sandwich, quickly made and extra good because of the gravy - canned chicken, tomato, onion, salt and pepper. Broil a few minutes. Pour sauce over. Makes 4 open-face sandwiches.

Missing U. S. Advisers in Laos Found

By ANTOINE YARED

VIENTIANE, Laos (AP)—Two U. S. military advisers missing since the fall Sunday of a royal government outpost near Houei Sai were recovered by helicopters today and returned looking fit after a three-day ordeal in the jungle. They had escaped with the garrison.

Royal Laotian troops were again fleeing from pro-Communist forces on the outskirts of Houei Sai, on Laos' border with north Thailand.

The recovered Americans are Sgt. L. C. Virgil Murphy, 38, Marion, Ind., and Sgt. Merle E. Lanley, 31, Olympia, Wash. They were flown to Vientiane from Houei Sai.

At a news conference, they said they were with 2 Laotian army soldiers holding the outpost at Houei Sai when the attack came Sunday morning.

The pro-Communists showed up 30 yards away from the right and 50 yards on the left of the outpost and opened fire against the defenders. As government troops rushed to their machine gun positions, the attackers lobbed in mortar shells.

The sergeants said they tried to reach their radio equipment to inform the main group of government forces which were a mile behind, but could not make it because of the attackers' heavy fire.

Confusion ensued and everybody ran into the surrounding jungle, they said. They said it took the attacking force, which they could neither identify nor estimate in strength, 20 minutes to overrun the outpost.

Government defenses only two miles outside Houei Sai were reported cracking under probing thrusts by the Pathet Lao.

U. S. military sources said a number of Laotian troops from across the Mekong river to Thailand since the attacks were resumed Sunday.

The informants stressed, however, that a good portion of the garrison remained in the town. An estimated 400-500 royal troops were moved back from Thailand to Houei Sai after they fled May 11 from the rebel drive in North-western Laos.

The sources said the Pathet Lao was on the outskirts of the town and there was sporadic exchange of fire between the rebels and the defenders.

A British Embassy spokesman said that the Pathet Lao chief, Prince Souphanouvong, has ordered his guerrillas to release two British doctors captured Saturday in the Saravane area about 300 miles southeast of Vientiane.

The doctors, Colin Prentice and Anthony Bryceson, were working under a Colombo Plan assistance program. An embassy spokesman said they were taken away because the Pathet Lao was not satisfied with their identification papers.

Negro Escapes

HELENA, Ark. (AP)—Enos Blair, 18, a Negro prisoner from the Phillips County farm, escaped Monday by climbing through a window at a Helena dentist's office. Sheriff Ed Hickey said Blair was brought to the dentist by a shop mechanic and trusty and escaped through a rest room window.

savan continued their goodwill visit to the Philippines.

Philippine congressmen supported President Diosdado Macapagal today in his attack on U. S. support for the neutralist faction of Laotian Prince Souvanna Phouma. Members of Macapagal's ruling coalition in the House of Representatives told the Philippine News Service the president's stand reflected a truly independent foreign policy.

At a luncheon honoring Boun Oum and Phoumi Monday, Macapagal condemned U. S. pressure to force Laos under neutralist rule. He labeled it "a species of sophistry that can only weaken the defense of the free world."

Rusk, Soviet Envoy Debate Berlin Issues

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of State Dean Rusk and Soviet Ambassador Anatoly Dobrynin debated East-West differences over Berlin for almost two hours today without any apparent progress toward agreement on the future of the disputed city.

The State Department said "the discussions reflected the well-known positions of each side." The talk was described as general. Rusk was limited in what he could say by the policy positions which have been adopted by the Western Allies, who are divided on some of the crucial Berlin issues.

The two talked about problems of an access authority to operate supply lines between West Germany and West Berlin. The structure of such an agency is in dispute between the United States and West Germany and Rusk, therefore, was unable to discuss it in any detail. He was particularly unable to push a U. S. plan for a 13-nation international control agency because officials say this will almost certainly be compromised in arriving at some U. S.-West German agreement.

Press officer Lincoln White gave newsmen this report on the meeting:

"The discussions today were in broad general outline and covered many aspects of the problems of Germany and Berlin. They reviewed their previous exchanges and the discussions reflected well-known positions of each side.

"This was an oral exchange. No documents were exchanged. While no specific date was set for the next meeting, the talks will continue."

Asked about the atmosphere of the meeting, White said it was "a proper diplomatic atmosphere." He said that, so far as he was aware, the subject of Laos did not come up.

It's the Season for Porch Suppers

Cook indoors... eat outdoors... it's fun. Yes, supper on the porch or patio pleases the whole family probably because it's a delightful change in routine meal service.

For the meat serve a new idea. Bake barbecue spareribs. The ribs are baked in the oven for an hour, then sauced with a zesty barbecue sauce made with canned condensed soups. The sauce combines canned condensed tomato soup and beef broth with other handy ingredients. Basting and turning the ribs occasionally will keep them moist and flavorful. The result... succulent ribs!

A perfect accompaniment to this "always popular" main dish is a rice casserole which can be baked in the oven at the same time.

Keep the dessert light and attractive... a combination of sliced oranges, pineapple chunks, and bananas topped with coconut.

Spareribs
Arrange 5 pounds spareribs, cut into serving size pieces on rack in shallow roasting pan. Bake in moderate oven (350°F.) for 1 hour. Meanwhile, prepare sauce as below. Pour off fat; cover ribs with sauce. Bake an additional hour, or until tender, turning and basting occasionally. Makes 4 to 6 servings.

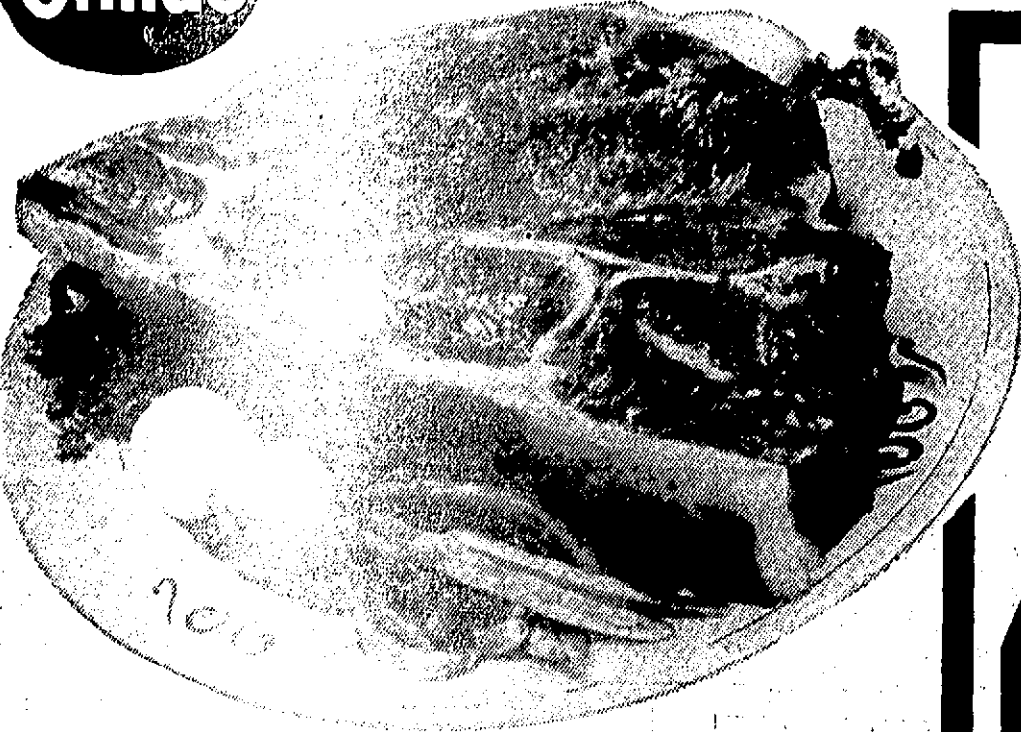

Barbecue Sauce
1 can (10 1/2 ounces) condensed beef broth
1 can (10 1/2 ounces) condensed tomato soup
2 cup chopped onion
2 cup brown sugar
2 cup lemon juice
3 cloves garlic, minced
4 teaspoons Worcestershire
2 teaspoons Tabasco
Combine all ingredients; mix well. Makes 3 cups sauce.
